Week of October 26th Setup

In this week's Chart of the Week, we take a look at SentinelOne ($S), which is bouncing strongly from the key $22.59 support after resetting from its recent highs. The next level to reclaim is $24.37 a clean break and hold above there could set up a retest of the 52-week highs, with $29.65 as our first major target. A weekly close below $22.59 would invalidate the bullish setup.

$S is becoming a direct play on the next wave of AI cybersecurity. SentinelOne just launched Agentic Detection and Response, built specifically to discover, monitor and stop rogue AI agents in real time, a potentially huge market as enterprises deploy thousands of autonomous agents that create entirely new attack surfaces.
